

Australian Government

Department of Agriculture,
Fisheries and Forestry

Senior Surveillance Officer

Department of Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry

- Supervise a team of experienced surveillance staff across southern Australia
- Play a role in preventing entry of exotic pests and diseases by early detection
- Ongoing (permanent) Full Time position
- Opportunities in Adelaide – SA, Melbourne – VIC and Sydney – NSW
- Remuneration - $85,833 – $97,454 per annum

This position will manage a team of experienced staff located across southern Australia who conduct surveillance at the national border for mosquitoes or plant pests and diseases.

The candidates must have: a track record of successfully supervising and managing teams, sound experience with surveillance and botany, entomology or plant pathology knowledge; strong people management skills; and proven ability to effectively coordinate and manage program delivery, and build and maintain positive relationships with a diverse range of stakeholders including dealing with difficult situations; be highly motivated; and be able to work independently with minimal supervision.

Flexible working arrangements are available with the Department of Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry.

Applications close: 24 January 2023

For further information and to apply: <https://www.agriculture.gov.au/about/jobs/apply>